

DULL CAMPAIGN THIS ABOUT TO END

Democrats Will Control Legislature by About Usual Majority.

FIGHT FOR COUNTY OFFICES

Loving Trial Entering Into Battle for Treasurer in Nelson County.

In some respects one of the most remarkable State campaigns ever fought in Virginia is that which will end with the battle of the ballots on Tuesday, November 5th.

Perhaps its most striking features are its dullness, so far as the legislative contests are concerned, and the great activity which is being displayed in many sections over county officers.

In Richmond city it would not be fair to signify what is going on politically this fall with the word "campaign."

There is no campaign. The Democrats have named a full ticket for both branches of the Legislature.

Republican candidates are named for the House, in the person of Mr. Leslie H. Drew, a young lawyer. They hope by this method and through Democratic inactivity to "slip in" a man on the House ticket.

For Senate, E. C. Folkes, James B. Dorman, For House of Delegates, Edwin P. Cox, Harry C. Glenn, Eugene C. Massey, Hill Montague, Charles H. Gingo.

The mongrel ticket is as follows: For Senate, William E. Talley, Independent, Leslie H. Drew, Republican.

Will Win With Ease. The Democratic ticket will be elected in full without any great trouble.

There are no candidates attending a campaign meeting and absolutely no speeches have been made. The Clay Ward Actives tried to have a meeting some weeks ago, but only a few members and no candidates attended.

In the Old Free State. Over in Lunenburg, which is called the "old Free State," there are no nominations for the House of Delegates.

There are two peculiarly ugly fights for treasurer in Virginia at this time. One is in Henrico and the other is in Nelson.

Mr. Peebles' competitor is Mr. W. B. Leas, a prominent young merchant of Lovingsville, who is looked upon as one of the most popular men in the county.

LIMERICK ED. HAD BATS IN HIS HEAD

The Napier Award Was Funny, but Miss Winston Gets the Money.

SO FAR MAXINE HASN'T WED

The Ed. Is in His Grave, Hurried There Without a Shave, and No One Weeps There for the Dead.

When the Limerick Editor crawled out of bed in the shank of the afternoon yesterday and came back to the shop, hoping to find a telegram saying somebody had died and left him an awful lot of money, he picked up an envelope, opened it, and then proceeded to throw a bunch of fits.

This time the blunder could not be hurled at the intelligent compositor, so the stenographer must accept the blame or hike away. In some unaccountable manner an error was made in awarding the ten-dollar prize.

Maxine, laid by this time has doubtless found out that as money didn't touch him. The winner was Miss Daisy Baldwin, of 503 Lombardy Street, whose lines were credited to Mr. Napier by mistake.

Miss Winston was at the top of the honorable mention list a week ago and this encouraged her to try again.

First Cold Rain of Fall. Bad weather may mean the breaking up of the fine October weather.

After a month of as delightful fall weather as was ever experienced in Virginia, Richmonders woke up yesterday morning to find the skies gray and threatening.

Throughout the crowded season of fair, horse show and convention, Richmond enjoyed as beautiful weather as is ever given to this part of the country.

Wanted Another Circuit. Henrico Citizens May Petition Legislature to Make a Change.

It is said on good authority that there is a well-defined movement in Henrico county to remove the county court to some other circuit.

Caught Playing "Skin". Officers Kicked in Door in House on East Cary Street and Arrest 12 Negroes.

Four Men Are Reported by Sergeant Amos, and Must Appear in Court. Four men—George H. Gingo, Toney Sanyour and Angelo Granigiani—were reported yesterday on a State summons for alleged laboring at their well and calling on the Sabbath.

POSTMASTERS HERE ON FRIDAY

First Convention in Virginia Promises to Be a Decided Success.

Mr. Cabell to Be President. Business Men's Club to Give Banquet, and High Officials Will Attend.

A meeting of unusual interest and importance scheduled for this week is that which has for its object the organization of the presidential postmasters of Virginia into a permanent association, and which will take place next Friday and Saturday.

The business sessions will be held in the United States courtroom in the Federal Building, and the attendance promises to reach beyond 100.

In addition to about eighty postmasters and assistants who have indicated their purpose to attend, the meeting there will be a large number of prominent department officials from Washington present, including Hon. Frank H. Hitchcock, first assistant postmaster-general, Hon. P. V. McGraw, fourth assistant postmaster-general, Hon. W. R. Spelman, superintendent of rural free delivery, Hon. E. H. Thorpe, superintendent of city delivery, Hon. W. J. Vickery, chief post-office inspector, Dr. John A. Holmes, private secretary to the Postmaster-General, and several others.

The postmasters of Louisville, Savannah and Raleigh, in whose names the association has been recently formed, will attend, and will assist in the work of organization. Though there are no candidates for any office, it is more than probable that Postmaster Cabell, of this city, will be made president for the first year.

In Thorough Sympathy. The department at Washington is in thorough sympathy with the move, which is going on throughout the country, and the object of the association is purely and simply to improve the efficiency of the service and to bring the department officials in closer business with the postmasters.

The proposed conference means a great deal to the local business world, and the Business Men's Club has undertaken to provide for the entertainment of the guests, which will include a banquet at the Jefferson Hotel on Friday night. The banquet will be held on the first instead of the second night of the meeting for the reason that a good many of the visiting officials reside in the Richmond area.

Outline of Meeting. In a letter sent out to postmasters of the presidential class in Virginia by Mr. Cabell gives the following outline of the meeting:

"The officials from the department will outline the discussion and every postmaster is asked to take part in the convention of this character, hearing and taking part in the discussions, and particularly the discussion of the efficiency of the department, cannot but assist you to become a better postmaster, and promote the interests of the postmaster class."

"The Business Men's Club, of Richmond, has undertaken to provide a form of entertainment which will probably consist of a banquet on Friday night, and a meeting of this character. Railroad rates are very cheap. I enclose list of hotels, with rates, for the use of the convention, and will also be glad to pay the hotel bills of the convention. You will indicate to me at which hotel you wish quarters reserved, and I will be glad to secure rooms for you. The convention will be called together in the United States Courtroom, Post-Office Building, at 10 o'clock sharp, on Friday, November 1, 1907.

"We shall probably have more department officials at the convention than any State convention held in the country, and you must be sure and come, and help make the meeting the most successful convention in any State."

Leaves Are Granted. The post-office department, through General Hitchcock has issued the following orders in relation to the convention:

Post-Office Department, Washington, October 27, 1907. Postmasters of the first, second and third classes in the State of Virginia are hereby granted leave of absence for the many days, not exceeding five, as may be necessary to enable them to attend the meeting and to observe the convention at the State of Virginia, to be held at Richmond, Va., November 1, 2, 1907, for the purpose of organizing a State Association of Postmasters."

(Signed) F. H. HITCHCOCK, Acting Postmaster General.

Tentative Program. A tentative program for the convention has been arranged, which follows: 9:30 to 10:00—Get acquainted. 10:00—Convention called to order. Brief review of welcome, organization, adoption of program, etc.

11:00 A. M.—Regular meeting for business purposes. 12:00—Lunch. 1:00—The topics to be considered will be the "Advantages of Closer Co-operation of Post-Office Department and Postmasters."

(A) Rural delivery. (B) City delivery. (C) Rural free delivery. (D) General delivery. Money Order Business. Post-Office Savings Bank. Postal Savings Bank. Registry Business. Parcel Post.

Business of Office, and relation of Industries to Postmasters. The new Salary Law. Post-Office Efficiency. Postal Laws and Regulations.

The meeting gives every promise of resulting in a more efficient and economical postal service, and the local business community, recognizing this, have responded liberally and cheerfully to the call.
